

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

Curable compositions that comprise two separately curable chemistry sets or compositions with curing temperatures sufficiently separated so that one chemistry composition can be fully cured during a B-staging process, and the second can be left uncured until a final cure is desired, such as at the final attach of a semiconductor chip to a substrate.